Welcome to our promotion rivals Spurs for this F.A. Cup third round replay.

Both sides can forget the cares of the promotion battle tonight, but the game, like Saturday's, will be a useful pointer to the relative merits of the teams.

For the White Hart Lane clash was what we, in the north, call a "blinder" It had everything.

We saw goals, plenty of exciting soccer and full entertainment value. for the crowd of nearly 44,000.

And I must say it looked, when Glenn Hoddle made it 2-1 for Spurs with five minutes left, that tonight's game would not be necessary.

But I must pay tribute to the fighting qualities in our side. And when Neil Whatmore hit back with an immediate equaliser, I felt it was no more than we deserved.

As you know, I have had a lot to say about our support recently. But those people who made the trip to London on Saturday to watch us, helped us get the result.

They shouted and cheered even when we were losing and I want to thank everyone of them.

Both sides contributed to the occasion by concentrating on attack and those of you who saw the League game against Spurs here earlier in the season will remember that we saw a similar encounter then.

If tonight's game is anything like those previous clashes, there is no doubt that the tie will be one to remember

Ian Greaves

Today's Visitors

Though Spurs have a quite remarkable FA Cup record — they have won the trophy three times since the war and they are the ONLY club to play in as many as five finals and win the lot — their recent run is dismal in the extreme. It is five years since they last won an FA Cup tie, and that was against Margate, a Southern League side!

As Spurs endeavour to end that black sequence tonight they will, like us, have the more important issue of promotion at the back of their minds. Having lost their First Division place at the end of last season, after an unbroken run of 27 seasons, they are particularly keen to make a quick return — and they seem almost certain to achieve that objective at the first attempt.

Their 2-2 draw at Sheffield United at the New Year enabled them to creep ahead of us on goal difference last week. So, whatever the outcome of tonight's cup tie, we are certain to be closely interested in Tottenham's progress for the remainder of the season.

It's little more than a month since Tottenham were at Burnden Park for a League encounter, a match we won with a last minute goal from Roy Greaves and, barring injuries, their team is likely to be very much the same tonight.

One change forced upon them shortly after their visit to Burnden enabled former Bolton defender Don McAllister to return to the side at left-back following an injury to Republic of Ireland international Jimmy Holmes. Terry Naylor has remained at right-back with Keith Osgood and Steve Perryman controlling things in the middle.

Barry Daines, for so long the loyal understudy to Pat Jennings, is thoroughly enjoying his long-awaited chance to play regularly in the first team goal.

John Duncan, top scorer in his first season following his £150,000 transfer from Dundee in 1974, and the scorer of 25 goals in 1975/76, is back to his old form after missing most of last season. He was the club's leading scorer with 15 goals before Saturday's game including a League Cup hat-trick against Wimbledon.

Chris Jones, who took over from Duncan last season and who ended up top scorer, has found himself out of the side for much of the season though he is usually the one called up when the regular strikers are injured.

Colin Lee, the player who made a remarkable Second Division debut by scoring four goals against Bristol Rovers in October, was left out of the side for several weeks after that. But now he is often included in attack and he has continued to score goals. Spurs paid Torquay £60,000 for Lee in October.

The man who creates many of Spurs' goals, and who could be the danger man tonight, is England winger Peter Taylor who suffered a depressing period soon after his £200,000 transfer from Crystal Palace last season. Now he's back to the sort of devastating wing form that earned him his England caps.

Spurs have been knocked out in the third round of the FA Cup for the past four seasons. Last season they lost 0-1 at Cardiff while the previous year they lost 1-2 at Stoke, following a 1-1 draw at White Hart Lane.

In 1975 they were beaten at home 1-0 by Nottingham Forest, after holding the Forest side to a draw on their own ground. In 1974 a 1-0 defeat at Leicester ended their interest.

The last time Spurs won an FA Cup tie was in 1973 when they visited Southern League Margate and won 6-0 in the third round. But they were beaten in the next round by Derby (5-3) in a replay.

Yet Spurs have a wonderful record in cup finals. They won the FA Cup in 1901, 1921, 1961, 1962 and 1967 and have never been beaten in a final. They reached the League Cup final twice — in 1971 and 1973 — and won on both occasions — and they won the UEFA Cup in 1972.

The only time Spurs have ever been beaten in any cup final was in 1974 when they went down 2-4 on aggregate to Feyenoord in the UEFA Cup final.

So Spurs' overall cup final record is eight wins in nine finals — a truly outstanding achievement.
